Be alert over cash machine scams: police

POLICE are warning residents to be on the alert after a cash machine was tampered with on Haverhill High Street.

Police were called to the ATM at Lloyds Bank on the High Street at 6.23pm last Thursday after a member of the public saw two men acting suspiciously beside it.

Officers then recovered a device which had been attached to the cashpoint, and are pursuing investigations into what happened.

They are looking to track down two men they want to speak to in relation to the incident. They are described as white, in their 30s, with shaved heads.

One of the men was wearing dark coloured shorts with a lime green puffer jacket.

The other was wearing a dark blue puffer jacket.

They both had a large build.

A spokesperson for Lloyds said: "We can confirm that police attended our Lloyds Bank branch in Haverhill last week following reports of a suspicious device attached to a cashpoint."

"As this investigation is ongoing we are unable to provide any further details at this time."

"We can reassure customers that such instances are rare and we have robust measures in place to ensure our cashpoints are secure and our customers are protected."

"If customers do spot anything unusual or suspicious at a cashpoint, we ask them not to use it and to immediately notify their local branch or call our customer services team."

The cashpoint at the High Street is safe to use and is running as normal.

A spokesperson for the police reiterated Lloyds Bank's advice to notify the bank as well as the police if you see people acting suspiciously near a cash machine or believe one may have been tampered with.

If you know anything about this incident or have any information about the two men, contact Suffolk Police on 101 quoting crime reference number 37/41857/16.

Alternatively, you can call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Council condemns hate crime and promotes tolerance

SUFFOLK County Council has condemned hate crime in light of a national rise in such incidents since the EU referendum.

At a full council meeting on Thursday, councillors voted in favour of a motion to condemn all hate crime and state the council is "proud of the Suffolk tradition of welcoming people of all countries, faiths and cultures."

The motion said councillors were concerned that tensions may have been raised in some parts of the county and they wanted to avoid any incidents of hate crime.

The day the motion was passed, the National Police Chiefs Council said it had seen a five-fold increase in hate crimes reported in the week after the referendum result.

In Huntingdon, signs reading "Leave the EU/No more Polish vermin" were disseminated the morning after the result.

Police said they had not had any reports of such incidents in the Haverhill area.

American cousins 'like' flag

A FLAG flown in Haverhill's town square to mark the USA's Independence Day has been called "awesome" by the citizens of Haverhill, Massachusetts.

The American flag was flown on Monday to mark July 4, and a picture of it was sent from Haverhill, Suffolk's town clerk Colin Poole to Massachusetts town clerk Linda Koutoulas.

It was posted on the Facebook page of American Haverhill's mayor Jim Fiorentini, where it received over 100 "likes" and citizens called it "awesome" and "very cool".

The flagpoles have only been put up within the last few months, in time to be used in Haverhill's Armed Forces Day celebrations.

Mum in plea for physio cash help

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

PARALYSED: Toni Easson

A WOMAN who was paralysed from the neck down aged 22 is fundraising for physiotherapy so that she can her cuddle her daughter again.

Toni Easson, now 28, was popping out for some cigarettes on New Year's Day 2010 when her car skidded on black ice and went into a house in Haverhill's Shetland Road.

Doctors put her into an induced coma and she woke up three weeks later unable to move from the neck down. She had broken her neck in three places.

She spent most of 2010 in hospital, moving from Addenbrooke's in Cambridge to Stoke Mandeville Spinal Research Centre in Buckinghamshire that April.

Toni said: "Six years have passed and to be honest I didn't really think about physio. I've got a 10-year-old daughter and I just got on with being a mum for her."

But this year, she decided me to the point where I can feed myself again.

"At the moment I'm paralysed from the neck down – I have to depend on carers to do literally everything."

She says the sessions have already helped her loosen up in her arms. But at more than £80 a session they come at a financial cost.

Toni's friend Fiona Brittain has set up a JustGiving page to raise the funds to help pay for the physio.

Toni said: "I am going to have to go for years and years. If I can raise as much money as possible, I can have as many sessions as possible – every little helps."

Toni, who now lives in Brockley outside Bury St Edmunds, has set up a Facebook page called "My Journey To Recovery" where she is posting details of her physio sessions.

To access the page, search "My Journey to Recovery" on Facebook.

Could you spot a subtle brain injury

Hannah Clarke, a Lawyer at Ashtons Legal, offers some advice from a legal perspective.

Many people cannot, and when this includes medical practitioners, it can cause extra problems for sufferers in the longer term. Hannah Clarke, a personal injury solicitor at Ashtons, explains.

Statistics shared by the charity Headway for 2013/14 revealed 956 hospital admissions in the UK for Acquired Brain Injury (ABI) every day and a further 445 admissions daily for head injuries.

While some instances of brain injury are obvious, others are not. As a lawyer, it surprises me how often I see people who have an actual or potential minor traumatic brain injury (MTBI) which has been overlooked or not properly investigated by the medical practitioner caring for them. They are then potentially expected to make a full recovery from what are perceived to be superficial head injuries, whereas in fact their brain function is permanently impaired in a life-changing way.

There are a range of symptoms which might indicate MTBI including: Post Traumatic Amnesia; visible head injury; loss of consciousness at the time of the accident; persistent headaches; impaired short term memory, concentration and change in character; affected hearing, smell or taste; needing excessive sleep; obsessive compulsive traits; alcohol intolerance; disinterest in former hobbies; difficulty retrieving words.

Combinations of these symptoms can be very debilitating and will affect quality of life, earning ability and need for care in the future.

All too often, unfortunately, the symptoms are overlooked and a compensation settlement is agreed which solely reflects any accompanying short-term injuries such as whiplash, or, cuts, or broken bones. In one case a Client came to us for a second opinion having been encouraged to accept a £50k settlement. Having obtained further medical evidence and proven the existence of a MTBI we secured a £1.2m settlement to fund the client's long term care.

Family members see each other's changes in behaviour on an ongoing basis whereas medical appointments are brief. If you think symptoms of MTBI are being missed, you should flag this up direct to your medic and through your lawyer if you are bringing a compensation claim.

@HannahMirskyCN

YEAR 11 students had a ball last week at their end-of-year proms.

Castle Manor Academy's event for its Year 11 leavers was held at Chilford Hall in Linton on Friday.

More than 100 teenagers attended, arriving in vehicles ranging from stretch hummers to a horse-drawn carriage.

They were treated to a fish and chips supper, live band and a vintage sweet cart as well as a dress-up photo booth.

Headteacher Vanessa Whitcombe said: 'It was a real pleasure to see our students arriving looking so sophisticated and mature. We hope that they enjoyed their evening and took advantage of their last opportunity to spend time together as a year group. They have been a great cohort of students and we are proud to have been part of their development and growth.'

in buses, supercars and more, and got to pose on a red carpet before entering the venue.

Inside, the Year 11s enjoyed music and dancing, a photo booth and a chocolate fountain.

The previous Friday, June 24, students at Linton Village College went back to the Jazz Age with a 'Great Gatsby'-themed leavers' ball.

The inventive methods of transport that these teenagers used to get to their prom – which was held at the school – ranged from a tractor to wheelbarrows as well as a horse and carriage and a camper van.

Their prom involved a jazz band, a 'mocktail' bar and a red carpet reception. Nearly 150 students from the school attended.

PLANNING

Unpopular plan for 95-home development rejected

A PROPOSAL to build 95 homes in a village near Haverhill has been rejected.

Villagers in Steeple Bumpstead, where Gladman Developments had been hoping to build the homes, have been campaigning against the development.

On Tuesday Braintree District Council's planning committee voted to reject the application after hearing representations from campaign group Hands Off Steeple Bumpstead and the village's parish council. Chair of Hands Off Steeple Bumpstead,

Ian MacKenzie, said: 'We believe in new homes for the village but in the right numbers and in the right place.'

'We have the village with us and we are determined to fight as hard and for as long as it takes to stop this development permanently.'

A Braintree District Council officer's report on the application recommended that it should be rejected.

It said that the development would have an 'adverse impact' on the character and landscape of the village, and that lack of transport links meant cars were the only transport option available making it unsustainable.

Gladman could still launch an appeal against Braintree's decision. Mr MacKenzie said Hands Off Steeple Bumpstead would fight any appeal.

The work of the campaign group has seen more than 300 letters of objection sent from residents to the council regarding the planning application.

Remembering the brave men of the Somme

A SERIES of moving events were held on Friday as Haverhill remembered one of Britain's most devastating battles.

The Battle of the Somme began on July 1, 1916, and ran until November 18 that year.

To mark the centenary, a wall of 20,000 poppies – representing each of the men who died on the first day of the battle alone – has been unveiled in St Mary's Churchyard in Haverhill's market square.

The poppies were made by students at Castle Manor Academy, Churchill Special Free School and the Kedington Guide Rangers.

Students and Guides attended a ceremony at 9.30am on Friday when the wall was officially unveiled.

COURT

Man in court on robbery charge

A 21-YEAR-OLD man has been charged with robbery in Haverhill.

Hari Farlie, of Montfort Court, Haverhill, is also charged with three further offences, two counts of assault causing actual bodily harm (ABH) and one count of assault by beating.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Mayor David Roach attended and a service was conducted by the Rev Canon Graham Owen with speeches from Royal British Legion representatives.

Afterwards, the Somme commemoration inside the church was opened. This included panels of historical information and flower arrangements in tribute to each of the 22 Haverhill men who died in the battle.

This was part of a day of events organised by the Haverhill branch of the Royal British Legion with support from the Haverhill Family History Group and Haverhill Town Council.

The day began at 7.30am with a whistle-blowing ceremony in Haverhill cemetery.

Whistles were blown in sequence in an imitation of the whistles blown one after another along the line of trenches on the morning the Somme began.

Alan Bumpstead, of the Haverhill RBL, said that around 30 members of the public turned up for this event. He said that one man had brought a whistle from 1915 which may well have been used during the Somme itself.

A two-minute silence was held at the cemetery, followed by the reading of a diary entry about the first day of the Somme and the names of the 22 Haverhill men who lost their lives.

EDUCATION

Good reports for primary school

A PRIMARY school has been rated both "good" and "outstanding" after two inspections in the space of a month.

In June, St Felix Roman Catholic Primary School in Haverhill's School Lane was visited by Ofsted and the Catholic Diocese.

The school received a "good" Ofsted rating and an "outstanding" rating from the diocese, with both reporting "excellent practice" among teachers.

Ofsted said the school had rapidly improved since its previous inspection.

Thanks for your donation

I AM writing on behalf of Cancer Research UK to say an enormous thank you to members of Haverhill Ex-Servicemen's Club for their generous donation of £325 which I recently received.

This amazing sum was raised from a darts tournament organised by Tracy Bourgaise and Malcolm Doncaster in memory of Brian Marlow.

The donation will be added to the funds of the Suffolk Relay For Life which is a 24 hour year-round fundraising challenge which brings communities together to beat cancer. Teams of friends and families, as well as cancer survivors are still welcome to enter and are invited to join us and register now.

Relay for Life, Suffolk takes place at Ickworth House from noon September 17 to noon September 18; bring a picnic and join us for a family fun day packed with emotions.

HISTORY

Gift sees ship's painting travelling the high seas

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A PAINTING which had been hanging in a Haverhill home for decades is now travelling around the world on a US Coastguard ship.

The painting was donated to the crew of the USCGC Eagle by Rob Maidment, who lives in Boyton Hall, off Ann Suckling Lane, in Haverhill.

Two paintings of the Eagle – then known as the Horst Wessel – were bought by Mr Maidment's father Moris in 1945 while he was serving as a town major in Kiel Harbour, Germany.

The German-made ship, painted by the artist Robert Schmidt, was given to the USA in 1946.

Since then it has been the US Coastguard's training ship, taking cadets around the world every summer to prepare them for a life in the coastguard. The huge vessel has 45 metre masts and 2,000 square metres of sail.

The two paintings travelled with Moris Maidment to South Africa after the war. Since 1978 they have been hanging in his son's office at his Haverhill home.

Mr Maidment said: "Without the internet it would never have happened. It literally was last year that I researched it. I just had some time, looked at the picture in the office and thought: 'I wonder if I can trace it'."

Through internet research he found out what had happened to the ship and managed to get in contact with its captain, Matthew Meilstrup.

Mr Maidment said: "We as a family decided we would donate the better of the two pictures to the crew. They are delighted with it."

The Eagle docked in London on June 9 and Mr Maidment was able to visit the ship in person to hand over the painting.

A document telling the story of the paintings has been attached to the back of each artwork and signed by Mr Maidment and Captain Meilstrup.

HANDOVER: Rob Maidment gives a painting of the USCGC Eagle to its captain Matthew Meilstrup

CRIME

Armed police sent to scene of assault

ARMED officers were sent out after an assault that left a man with a gash to his face on Sunday night.

Police attended the incident, in Haverhill's Chapple Drive, at around 9pm after receiving several calls about an assault.

There was a suggestion that those responsible for the attack may have left to get a gun, so armed police were sent to the address.

No firearm was seen during the incident.

The assault victim was taken to Addenbrooke's with a gash to his head, a gash to his cheek and swelling to his face.

He has now been discharged from hospital.

Police are making ongoing inquiries into what happened and believe the victim and offenders were known to each other.

Anyone who saw what happened is asked to contact West Suffolk CID by calling Suffolk Police on 101 quoting crime reference number 42354/16.

Man supports action day

A FORMER carpenter who suffers from an industrial disease has spoken out to raise awareness.

Haverhill resident Bob Kempster suffers from mesothelioma, a cancer caused by exposure to asbestos.

The 79-year-old came into contact with the material while working as a carpenter in the 1970s.

To mark Action Mesothelioma Day, which took place on Friday, he said: "I feel strongly that people should be made aware of mesothelioma.

"It affects a lot of people my age who worked closely with asbestos and were never told how much damage it could do to their health."

PLANNING

Decision to be taken on homes plan

A DEVELOPMENT which residents say could pose a danger to child safety is set to be considered today.

The application for 30 new homes on land adjacent to Brickfields Drive, Haverhill, is set to be discussed by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Residents and the town council have expressed concern that an increase in the number of cars in the area could endanger children as they go out to play.

One resident wrote: "Brickfields Drive is currently occupied by young families with young children who spend regular summer evening playing 'out the front'.

"This pleasant lifestyle would be absolutely ruined with the constant flow of traffic that would be coming in and out of Brickfields Drive.

"The constant worry for child safety will ruin the safe environment we feel we have created here in Brickfields Drive."

Another added: "With potentially an additional 30-60 cars coming down from the new development it would be an accident waiting to happen, in all likelihood involving a child."

Suffolk Highways has also raised concerns that increased parking near a Brickfields Drive junction could be dangerous.

The highways authority agrees with residents' concerns that motorists would use Brickfields Drive as a short cut.

The highways authority has

HANNAH MIRSKY

proposed a traffic regulation order should be implemented to deal with the parking, and a traffic management scheme to discourage drivers from using the road as a short cut.

Officers at St Edmundsbury Borough Council have recommended that councillors approve the scheme, provided contributions to the community are made.

This would include £10,000 for the traffic regulation order process, £97,448 for primary education and £35,000 for facilities at the Hales Barn Road play area.

The site where the development would be built is set to be bordered by the proposed North West relief road.

Planning officers suggest that the Brickfields Drive development should not be started until work has begun on the relief road.

The relief road was granted planning permission in March last year.

The intention is to reduce pressure on town centre roads as population increases when 3,600 homes are built on the North West Haverhill and Great Wilsey park developments.

For more planning stories visit cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

NEWS IN BRIEF

Icing on cake for station

A FIRE station was seen in a whole new light as a model of it made out of chocolate sponge won a top award.

Linton Fire Station scooped two top prizes in The Fire Fighter's Charity national Bake a Difference 2016 event.

Village resident Bex Jacklin won the star baker award for her miniature version of the village fire station.

The cake was baked for the Linton event last month, which won the charity's Bake A Difference Top Bake Sale prize.

Health provider issues warning over budget

THE West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group is in danger of spending more than its budget as pressures such as an aging population increase.

Chief operating officer for West and East Suffolk CCGs, Ed Garratt, pictured, said: "This is the most difficult financial position ever experienced by our CCGs."

Neither CCG is currently in debt.

EXCITING: Haverhill Festival street performers with town mayor David Roach

BEER, music and people dressed as pigeons all played their part in a weekend of celebrations in Haverhill.

The Haverhill Festival, an annual arts event, drew to a close on Saturday with street performers wandering the town's high street.

At the same time, Haverhill's second annual beer festival took place on the Market Square, with residents enjoying a range of brews and live music.

The Haverhill Festival street performances were organised by Haverhill Town Council and included two giant damsels, comedy ballroom dancers and a pair of performers dressed as pigeons.

The town council's arts and leisure manager Nick Keeble said: "It seemed to be very enjoyable. There was lots of good engagement with people. As people came up and down the street they could come across at least one or two things."

"It's just lovely the different reactions that people have to them. The pigeons – the little kids absolutely adored them."

der Festival is organised by Market Square Group on behalf of St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The two-day event saw residents enjoy more than 30 local, national and international beers and ciders. There was also street food, delicacies such as cheeses and cured meats, and craft stalls, as well as live music.

There are more summer events lined up. This Sunday will see more than 150 vehicles descend on Haverhill for the town's vintage vehicle rally.

The Historic Commercial Vehicle Society helped the town council organise the event.

Secretary Mike Hickford said: "It's a day out for all the family, you don't need any level of expertise to appreciate the sights, sounds and smells of vintage motoring or to find out more about the way we used to travel."

The rally will run from 10am to 5pm in the Haverhill Arts Centre car park, with bus rides from 1pm to 4pm.

B & C Glass

B&C GLASS Ltd is a small, friendly and local business which has been operating since 1981 in Haverhill. In that time it has built a reputation unrivalled in the industry.

"We serve many large contractors and companies, but also supply the general public and trade," says office manager Pippa Ketteridge. "We're very versatile and can literally deal with any order involving glass that you could imagine."

"We can supply and fit secondary glazing, quality UPVC and aluminium windows, doors and conservatories, but can also help with any small order: a replacement picture frame glass or window pane for example, or a fridge shelf."

Other services available include the supply of greenhouse glass, glass shelving, furniture tops, toughened safety glass, mirrors, balustrading, well covers, single glazed glass, bevelled glass, leaded glass, coloured glass splashbacks and shower enclosures. All single glazing glass is kept in stock, ready for cutting to size for immediate availability.

B&C Glass make kitchen and bathroom splashbacks in house – available in any colour – which are becoming very popular as they provide a sleek, modern and clean finish, with no need for tiling and grout.

B&C are also able to repair or replace UPVC locks, handles and other window or door parts to help avoid unnecessary full frame replacement costs.

They offer both supply-and-fit or supply-only service. "We are always happy to offer advice and information to assist a customer if they would like to fit their glazing themselves," explains Pippa. "With over 30 years of experience, we are able to pass on a wealth of glazing knowledge."

Shelves, mirrors and furniture tops can be supplied on a same-day basis if needed, as it's all done available for immediate supply (only toughened glass requires a week for delivery.)

B&C Glass also offer emergency call-outs for repairs and boarding of shop fronts or homes in an emergency.

July Festival

RUNNING over three action-packed days, there's plenty to look forward to at the Moët & Chandon July Festival.

Racing is of course at the forefront of the Festival, but it is a seriously stylish affair too. The rebranded Style Awards (sponsored by The Spa at Bedford Lodge Hotel) will be celebrating the festival's best-dressed ladies, gents and couples, with some amazing prizes up for grabs across the three categories, including a seven day holiday to Club Med La Plantation d'Albion in Mauritius, no less.

When the sun sets, don't head home, let your hair down at Apres Racing, the Festival's official after party. Heart FM DJ and former TOWIE star Mark Wright will take to the decks today, DJ, TV presenter and fashion blogger Vogue Williams will DJ tomorrow, and Disco Shed will bring the festival to a close on Saturday. Don't forget your dancing shoes!

Good news for those who love a board game: Newmarket Monopoly will be on sale during the Festival.

This limited special-edition has been created to mark 350 years of the home of horseracing, and will be sold at the National Horseracing Museum pop-up shop on the course.

And to honour King Charles II, a pivotal figure in Newmarket's horseracing history, a special statue by the Victorian sculptor Henry Weekes will be unveiled at the Festival today.

This, and the renewal of the Town Plate, make up two of the commemorative events organised to celebrate 350 years of racing in Newmarket.

■ Thursday, July 7 – Friday, July 15
■ Kenneth Branagh brings Shakespeare's arguably most popular play to the stage and broadcast to cinemas live tonight at 7.15pm. Romeo and Juliet stars Lily James and Richard Madden, who also starred in Branagh's version of Cinderella, Meera Syal as the nurse and the stalwart of stage and screen Derek Jacobi in the role of Mercutio. This broadcast will be screened in black and white, for artistic reasons, you understand.

■ The Glyndebourne live broadcast of Die Meistersingers Von Nürnberg (or The Mastersingers of Nuremberg) is being screened at 5.30pm on Tuesday, July 12. Hans is the most celebrated of the Mastersingers, a group of poets and musicians who have created complex rules for composing and performing their songs. Their world is turned upside down by free-thinking Walther, who enters their singing competition in order to win the heart of his beloved Eva. The action takes place in 16th century Germany and so it is in German with English subtitles.

■ One of the pioneers of Rock 'n' Roll returns to Haverhill on Friday, July 15. Marty Wilde is always very popular when he comes to town and this time it's no different. Book your tickets soon as it looks like Marty will be another sell-out.

■ When it comes to films, this week the arts centre has A Hologram for The King and the next in the Discover Arts Series, St Peter's and the Papal Basilicas of Rome. The former, screened on Wednesday, July 13, at 7.30pm is a comedy-drama starring Tom Hanks. It tells the story of a washed-up American salesman who travels to Saudi Arabia to sell a holographic teleconferencing system to the Saudi government. The second film of the week is shown at the same time on Thursday, July 14, and is a documentary offering an insight into the magnificent art and architecture of The Vatican and other church buildings in the Italian capital.

■ Also, don't miss the hotly anticipated return of Helen and Mary's jumble sale on Saturday, July 9. Proceeds will be donated to St Nicholas Hospice. Get there at 10am to snap up the best bargains.

REVIEW

Once Upon a Time There Were Four Little Rabbits was performed by Quantum Theatre on Saturday at East Town Park in Haverhill. LOUISE COHEN went along.

ONCE upon a time there were four little rabbits and their names were Flopsy, Mopsy, Cotton-tail and Peter

Set in the beautiful East Town Park, the sun was shining for these four little rabbits as the tale of how Peter sneaked off into Mr McGregor's garden and was caught unfolded.

With only a cast of four people, the actors of Quantum Theatre were multi-versatile in changing into different characters quickly and without delay.

In the second half which introduced Benjamin Rabbit to the audience, he and Peter snuck back into Mr McGregor's garden to get back the clothes Peter had lost earlier.

After several scrapes with Mr McGregor's cat, who was particularly funny, the bunnies finally got home safely after being helped by Benjamin's father who turned up just in the nick of time before they were turned into pies!

Using live music, the show appealed to both young and old and was all over too soon.

The social dilemma that autonomous drivers face

DECISIONS decisions – with the advancement of autonomous technology, the cars we drive could be making choices every day about which lane to be in, how fast to travel, and which route to take home.

But what happens in the event of a potential accident? What happens if a car is faced with the option of saving itself and its occupants, knowing the only way to do this might be to hit a pedestrian?

Or – it could avoid the pedestrian but put its driver and passengers at risk by swerving into oncoming traffic?

It's an interesting question and one that has been the subject of a new study.

Top-selling journal Science published its findings, based on a survey of 1,928 US residents, in a report named 'The Social Dilemma of Autonomous Vehicles'.

The study showed most people think an autonomous vehicle (AV) should sacrifice its passengers to minimise harm in an emergency, by doing things like swerving to avoid a group of pedestrians.

However, the subjects also said they would rather be a passenger in an autonomous vehicle that protected them no matter what, even if it meant putting other motorists or pedestrians at risk.

The study, authored by Jean-Francois Bonnefon, Azim Shariff and Iyad Rahwan said: "Autonomous vehicles should reduce traffic accidents, but they will sometimes have to choose between two evils, such as running over pedestrians or sacrificing themselves and their passenger to save the pedestrians.

"We found that participants in six Amazon Mechanical Turk studies approved of utilitarian AVs (that is, AVs that sacrifice their passengers for the greater good) and would like others to buy them, but they would themselves prefer to ride in AVs that protect their passengers at all costs."

The study also showed that respondents did not approve of regulations which made self-sacrifice mandatory, and that such regulations would make them less inclined to purchase an AV.

The study highlights an interesting moral dilemma surrounding the development of AVs – one that will need to be solved before they can enter the mainstream market en masse.

GIGAPIXEL: Camera for Bentley ad

Bentley ad uses epic NASA camera kit

BENTLEY has unveiled a groundbreaking 'gigapixel' image, featuring the new Mulsanne Extended Wheelbase in Rose Gold over Magnetic duo-tone crossing San Francisco's iconic Golden Gate bridge.

The image was created using technology originally developed by NASA to enable Mars rovers to take exploratory panoramic photographs. Viewers can use an innovative, interactive zoom function to travel from 700 metres out all the way into the Mulsanne's cabin – right down to the 4,500 individual stitches in the embroidered 'Winged B' headrest logo.

An incredible 4,425 times larger than a typical smartphone image, this extraordinary photograph is made up of 53 billion pixels (or 53,000 megapixels).

S90: Getting more energetic

Sport chassis is at heart of new Volvos

VOLVO Cars has revealed performance-inspired R-Design models of the new S90 saloon and V90 estate.

Central to the S90 and V90 R-Design is an advanced sport chassis that delivers an energetic, road-hugging drive.

"R-Design delivers an edge to our elegant estate and saloon models in our 90 Series, with a winning combination of a sportier, more responsive drive with clearly visible performance styling," said Volvo's Björn Annwall.

Sporting a new front-end design with spoiler-integrated foglights, the R-Design models come with a unique grille and piano black trim on both the front and rear. A new five-spoke matt black diamond-cut wheel adds to the performance feel.

Interior styling cues include unique deco trim, pedals and mats, sporty contour seats and special steering wheel, and a high-level interior illumination package that radiates attention to detail.

S90 and V90 R-Design order books are open. UK prices will be announced in the autumn.

IN USE: Hard shoulder

'All lane running' term for motorway plans

PLANS to convert more hard shoulders into permanent driving lanes to ease congestion should be scrapped amid safety fears, MPs have recommended.

The Government intends to expand motorway capacity by converting hundreds of miles of hard shoulder into permanent lanes, known as 'All lane running'.

But an inquiry by MPs on the Commons Transport Select Committee concluded the plan is too dangerous and has not been properly considered.

Current 'smart motorway' schemes have only used the hard shoulder at peak times or to deal with congestion. The new plans would permanently convert hard shoulders into traffic lanes to increase capacity, with a 60 per cent increase in motorway traffic forecasted by 2040.

Opening up hard shoulders to traffic is seen as a cheaper and less disruptive alternative to widening motorways with extra lanes.

New 500 Riva celebrates a world of speedboats and fun

THE 1957 Fiat 500 was not only the cornerstone of a mobilised Italy, allowing millions of people to experience the personal freedom of car ownership, it also symbolised the rebirth of the nation, becoming inextricably linked to the Dolce Vita years during which the country rediscovered its sense of style, vitality and fun.

During the same time, another Italian icon also rose to prominence – Aquarama, the Riva speedboat. Elegant and exquisitely executed, the Aquarama was an authentic status symbol which helped Riva on its way to becoming one of the world's most respected premium boat builders.

Almost 60 years later, the two symbols of Italian style and elegance finally converge in the form of the Fiat 500 Riva. Aimed at motorists seeking the same exclusivity of Aquarama Super yacht – the current Riva icon – but in an accessible, everyday package, the Fiat 500 Riva is finished in "Sera Blue", an exclusive colour for this limited edition model and one of the most popular for the Aquarama Super, successor to the legendary Aquarama.

THE FIAT 500 RIVA: Wee funster is on its way for the end of August

The convertible version also gets a new blue soft top, created exclusively for this version, while the hatchback gets a panoramic glass roof as standard, but what really sets the Fiat 500 Riva apart is the detailing: the chrome mirror caps, handles and bonnet trim. A double aquamarine line runs along the belt line, while brand new 16-inch, 20-spoke alloy wheels, with a special blue finish, have been created especially for the Fiat 500 Riva.

Inside, the dashboard is finished in hand-painted mahogany with maple inlay work, and the door sills and gear knob are also carved from a solid piece of mahogany, while the seats are trimmed in an exclusive ivory leather.

In terms of safety kit, the 500 Riva gets seven airbags, ABS with EBD, ESC (Electronic Stability Control), ASR (Anti Slip Regulation) Hill Holder and HBA (Hydraulic Brake Assistance) that helps with emergency braking.

The UK launch is due at the end of August with 1.2 69bhp, TwinAir 85bhp and TwinAir 105bhp engine options.

Prices will be announced soon.

'Marginal' rise for fuel prices is expected soon

FUEL prices are expected to rise marginally following Britain's decision to leave the European Union.

Brian Madderson, chairman of the Petrol Retailers Association, said last week that higher diesel and petrol prices were on their way, and that he expected prices to rise by two to three pence per litre.

He explained the pound's drop in value against the dollar following the Brexit result had an immediate impact, since wholesale fuel prices were quoted in dollars.

Madderson said the price rises would be implemented this week.

The RAC has also voiced its opinion on the matter.

Spokesman Simon Williams said: "Despite the dramatic fall in strength of the pound in the aftermath of Britain's referendum vote to leave the EU, there has not been as big an effect on wholesale fuel prices as might have been expected.

ON THE WAY UP: But only slightly

"This means forecourt prices may only rise slightly in the next week or so."

He explained this was due to the price of crude oil falling amid fears of weaker global demand, softening the effect on wholesale fuel prices.

Williams said if the barrel price had remained constant, the falling pound would have caused wholesale fuel prices to increase sharply.

"In early June, the price of crude oil rose to 50 US dollars – a figure not seen since October last year, and at the time of the referendum was just under 49 US dollars.

"However, on Monday the barrel price dropped to 45.88 US dollars. This 6 per cent reduction since last Thursday has softened the impact on wholesale fuel of the 11 per cent fall in the strength of the pound against the dollar," Williams explained.

He is expecting forecourt prices to rise by a penny or two from the current petrol and diesel prices of 112p a litre.

Williams said: "No doubt there will be more volatility in the coming weeks, but for the time being at least, motorists should not see an impact on the cost of filling up."

Audi's latest A2 is cuter and smarter

HIGH definition design meets highly intelligent technology in the new Audi Q2, the Vorsprung durch Technik brand's first crossover which will join the currently three-strong Audi Q range later this summer from £20,230.

Head of Audi design Marc Lichte and his team have taken the compact SUV in a bold new styling direction intended to appeal to a younger audience, and have combined this with a quality of finish and a portfolio of connectivity, infotainment and assistance systems that will be instantly familiar from the larger Audi models.

The Q2 is launching in the UK with an initial choice of two four-cylinder engines – the 1.6 TDI with 115PS and the Cylinder-on-Demand 1.4 TFSI with 150PS. A three-cylinder 1.0 TFSI with 115PS and a four-cylinder 2.0 TDI with 150PS will become available later in the year. As an alternative to the six-speed manual transmission, Audi will also offer the S tronic dual clutch transmission with seven speeds for all engines bar the 1.0 TFSI (standard for the 2.0 TDI). From mid-2017 a 2.0 TFSI petrol engine allied exclusively to quattro all-wheel-drive and S tronic transmission will be introduced, and at that point it will also be possible to combine the 150PS TDI and TFSI engines with quattro drive.

Cambridge Audi is on (01223) 660108.

CLOSE RIVALS: Haverhill under-11s and Weston Colville after the Border Junior Cricket League Cup final

Thrilling cup victory for Haverhill juniors

Cricket

HAVERHILL Cricket Club under-11s enjoyed a thrilling win over Weston Colville in the Border Junior Cricket League Cup final

Visitors Weston Colville won the toss and put Haverhill into bat, and a steady start for the hosts was followed by a succession of wickets.

However, a strong partnership between Max Egan and Joseph Rinaldi helped to boost Haverhill's score, and they finished on 248 for 7.

Haverhill bowlers Max Meadows, George Clinton,

Dylan Williams, Riley Jennings and Riley Pector-Hird took early wickets, and Weston Colville looked to be in serious trouble.

However, fine batting from Zak Earl and Oliver Earl put them back into contention, with nine runs needed off the last over to win.

Egan bowled the final over and restricted Weston Colville to just five runs though, allowing the hosts to claim a narrow victory as Weston Colville finished on 245 for 6.

Kiddle and team take trophy win

Golf

ERIC Kiddle's team won the Past Captains Trophy at Haverhill.

Former club captain Kiddle, along with Eamonn Bareham, Mick Daleena and Bill Lancee finished ahead of the 15-team field with an overall score of 126 points.

Martin Mansfield, Allen O'Donoghue, Dan Wilkins and Steve Ward were four points behind them.

Third place went to Chris Vince, Russell Gritty, Simon Cousins and Chris Briggs on 120.

The Lady Captain's Summer Event saw 19 teams taking part from across East Anglia and was won by Felixstowe Ferry.

The team from Fynn Valley won Haverhill's junior academy fundraiser, which had members from the host club competing too.

The money raised goes towards supporting the weekly academy sessions, which are organised by club PGA Professional Paul Wilby and cost just £1 per session for players.

"Watching these young people develop in the unsurpassed golfing environment our local club provides is one of the highlights of my profession," said Wilby.

"They not only develop as golfers but also learn other skills such as communication, team work and discipline."

Richard Norden won the men's midweek medal and took Division Two thanks to a round of nett 64.

Paul Bartlett triumphed in Division One with 69 and Michael Donno won Division Three on 70.

The ladies' midweek medal saw Mary Sail take the win with 74, while Sheila Price scored 64 to win the Saturday medal.

The men's Curry Cup team booked their place in the next round thanks to a win over Felixstowe Ferry.

However, the Tolly Cup team suffered a three-hole defeat in their match away to West Suffolk, while the senior men lost their Beaumont Cup match at Felixstowe Ferry.
